Call for solar panels on council buildings

COUNCILLORS will today (Thursday) be asked to back the first step for a major scheme to save the council tens of thousands of pounds a year by putting solar panels on its main buildings.

A motion will be put to a

by Harry Walton
hds Walton@yahoo.co.uk

full meeting of Weymouth and Portland council at the Guildhall for officers to produce such a scheme with the intention of the first sites being the Pavilion and the huge council offices building on North Quay.

Environment spokesman

Councillor Ian Roebuck told the View: "Such a scheme will save the council tens of thousands of pounds.

"It has not been done before because there has always been concern that we had no way of financing the capital outlay.

"Now, given the ongoing revenue income it will provide, and the precedent of capital being found for the ferry berth, that objection seems to have no force.

"The returns and savings from using solar energy are obvious never mind the clear environmental advantages, something which has been a theme I have supported all my life."

He added that the roof areas which would be among the first to be considered would be the Pavilion and the council offices.

Mr Roebuck said: "They are the obvious roof areas which would not impinge on people's views and there is also the council's depot at Crookhill, Chickereil, to be considered while there are other sites we will also be considering in due course.

"This environmental approach is in accordance with the council's commitment to the renewable energy strategy which the authority recently endorsed.

"Hopefully tonight's full council meeting will agree that the notice of motion be referred to the next meeting of the council's management committee for it to debate starting the preparation of a solar scheme."

JEWELLERY-maker Lindsay Anderson moved from Hertfordshire to Dorset in 2003, spending the last seven years in Dorchester.

Her experience in the craft world led to her founding Shop Dorset – a shopping website dedicated to promoting local businesses.

The 43-year-old lives with her partner, Neil, six-year-old daughter Daisy and Lottie, the rescue lurcher.

● WHAT is Shop Dorset?

Shop Dorset is a new, networked shopping website featuring a great mix of independent local retailers, food producers, artists and craftspeople. It shows off what a fantastic variety of small enterprises exist in our beautiful county, drawing on a fashionable desire for shopping locally. We now have nearly 100 local enterprises on board and are still growing weekly with space for many more to join.

● WHAT inspired you to set it up?

I have run the Dorset Art and Craft Show for over six years now, as a series of quality events in different venues around the county. I found many of our exhibitors were unsure how best to harness the marketing opportunities the web now offers in terms of developing their businesses and retailing to a wider audience. Having always worked in marketing, I felt I could bring my experience to build something which could really help a wide mix of Dorset businesses pull together to jointly promote their fantastic wares.

● DOES it help customers or businesses?

Both! We are obviously trying to connect shoppers with businesses who offer what they are looking for, and businesses with potential customers for their products. If your Christmas list seems like a daunting challenge this year, just click onto www.shopdorset.co.uk and you will find a whole host of original ideas for all, including those hard-to-please family members and friends, all available from the comfort of your own home.

● HAVE you ever turned away a business?

No, not yet luckily. I think the ethos of the site is quite clear, so retailers understand that we are only aiming to attract those businesses who offer quality, appealing products with great customer service.

● HOW did you start making jewellery?

I have been making bead jewellery since I was a child and I have lost none of the simple pleasure that creating your own designs brings since those early attempts. I now specialise in sterling silver designs with gem-stones, freshwater pearls and beautiful beads and sell my work through Walford Craft Mill and Shop Dorset.

● WHAT are the influences on your designs?

The endless combinations of colours, shapes and textures inspires new pieces – necklaces, bracelets and earrings from easy-to-wear items to special occasion designs created for that wow factor.

● HOW do you manage to juggle work and family life?

A very supportive partner who is man enough to use an iron or oven without it threatening his masculinity. I know I'm lucky to often pick my daughter up from school although it regularly means working late into the evening to repay the privilege but I would be bored if I wasn't so busy and relish new challenges as a way to keep life interesting.

60 SECOND INTERVIEW

● IS the internet killing the high street?

I think people will always enjoy visiting the high street and the more sociable experience it offers. But with busy lives, the internet can offer an alternative shopping experience when we haven't the time to pound the pavement for what we are looking for. With Shop Dorset you don't lose the personal touch as you are dealing direct with each of our retailers, many of whom are one-man or woman bands.

● WHAT does your daughter make of your jewellery?

She says she wears it and she really likes how pretty it all is. She is very sweet and kind to her mummy! It's lovely to see how all small children are so easily absorbed by crafts, the creative instinct is something we should nurture throughout life.

● WHO would you most like to see wearing your jewellery?

Kate Middleton for the obvious exposure and Aung San Suu Kyi for the credibility.

● WHAT is your favourite shop in the world?

My local deli, The Potting Shed (Olives Et Al) in Poundbury whose chilled and friendly café is a favourite after-school haunt with my daughter. Now they have launched in America, which is a fantastic inspiration for all Dorset enterprises. I also love Kaniki, the Uttam shop in Bath, whose great online presence also reflects the quirky fashion sense of the store.

● WHO would play you in the biopic movie of your life?

I would hope for Cameron Diaz but fear that friends would cast Barbara Windsor instead – something to do with my distinctive laugh!

■ PAUL Carter and Lucie Green with other Conifers pupils at the poppy launch

■ STANDARDS dip as John Hurst gives the exaltation and the poppy petals begin to fall from the Sea Life Tower

Launch of appeal in a cloud of petals

A CLOUD of 100,000 petals were released from Weymouth Sea Life Tower to mark the start of the 2012 Dorset Royal British Legion Poppy Appeal.

The petals swirled down on a large group of civic dignitaries, military representatives and members of the public who attended the event.

Among them were Crew Training School soldiers from Bovington, who brought two Jackal reconnaissance vehicles, the Band of the Light Dragoons and a variety of veterans groups.

Organiser Ian Jarvis said: "DRBL chairman John Hurst read the exaltation and poppy petals were released to mark the start of this year's poppy campaign in Dorset."

"The whole idea was to create a significant focal point to kick-start the county poppy appeal ahead of Remembrance Sunday on November 11th."

Among those attending were children from Conifers and Beechcroft St Paul's primary schools.

Conifers Year 5 teacher Melanie Hawkins, who organised her school's attendance, said: "I arranged our visit because it tied in with Conifers' ethos where children are encouraged to take responsibility. The school is also happy to support such a worthy appeal and we are also selling poppies."

Cycleway repairs

A POPULAR section of cycleway on Ridgeway Hill in Weymouth is to be upgraded.

Dorset County Council will be working on the stretch of cycleway between the Bincombe Junction and the Ridgeway Bridge until November 12th to replace the existing chalk strip with a paved surface. The verge drainage will also be improved.

Dorset Highways has monitored the route as part of the Weymouth Relief Road post-project assessment and taken on board comments received from users of the cycleway, finding that the surface has been deteriorating.

Cyclists will still be able to use the route with care, but there may be some disruption Monday to Friday between 8am and 4pm.

Locks super glued

POLICE hunting an offender who had been super-glueing locks on commercial premises in Weymouth have arrested a 57-year-old local man.

He was detained in King Street after complaints of locks being damaged around the town.

Among premises affected were shops, post boxes and telephone kiosks.

Smell of drugs

AN officer's strong sense of smell led to two men being arrested in Weymouth for drugs offences.

The officer was carrying out house-to-house inquiries about a suspected Esplanade burglary when he smelt drugs, investigated and discovered a quantity of cannabis and a Class A drug.

Police said the men, aged 21 and 27 years, were both arrested and have since been bailed while further inquiries are carried out.

Recognition for volunteers at awards

■ EILEEN WREN from the MS Society receives her award from Dorchester mayor Andy Canning

■ ST JOHN Ambulance volunteer Keith Hocking

■ PORTLAND Island Community Action volunteers

■ WEYMOUTH RUGBY Club volunteers receive their award from the Lord Lieutenant of Dorset Valerie Pitt-Rivers

by Trevor Bevens

A NUMBER of Weymouth faces were among dozens of volunteers who give up their time to help others, honoured at an awards evening.

The Volunteer Centre Dorset celebrated individuals and groups from across the county who make life better for others.

They varied from volunteers who have been working in groups, or alone, for more than 30 years, to helpers who have given up a year of their time.

"The volunteer spirit is alive and well in Dorset... the contributions volunteers make is incalculable and life in the county would be poorer without them," said Lord Lieutenant Valerie Pitt-Rivers, who along with Dorchester Mayor, Andy Canning, presented the awards.

Amongst the award winners was Eileen Wren from Chickerell Road, Weymouth, one of the longer-serving helpers. Eileen has devoted 34 years to the MS Society South and West Dorset branch helping to organise monthly outings, arranging transport to clubs and other events, organising theatre trips and the annual Christmas lunch as well as taking part in town centre fund-raising events.

Another long-serving volunteer who received an award was St John Ambulance volunteer Keith Hocking who has helped the organisation and provided first aid cover at local events for 32 years.

■ DENISE DAVIES from Weymouth Rugby Club

Keith is a regular at Weymouth FC and each year takes four days to provide cover at the Weymouth hockey festival. He is also involved in teaching others in first aid skills.

Other awards went to Di Gilliver from the Samaritans; Denise Davis (individual award) and a group award to her and other volunteers at the Weymouth Rugby Club; the volunteer team at Weymouth Community Safety Centre and Portland's Island Community Action.

Group awards were also given to volunteers from The Acorns and The Stroke Association.

Deputy Manager of Volunteer Dorset, Craig Womble said the evening, which was attended by around 150 people, had been a fantastic celebration of the contribution people make to society: "Volunteers new and old have really gone that little bit further and have really made it a year to remember."

Mr Monopoly comes to Weymouth

■ IAN BRUCE, Dan Taylor and Ashleen Lavender meet Mr Monopoly

A BRAND new official customised Monopoly board for Weymouth and Portland has been launched in spectacular style 174ft up the Sea Life Tower.

Leading the launch were Weymouth and Portland tourism spokesman Councillor Ian Bruce, board co-creators Dan "The Monopoly Man" Taylor and Ashleen Lavender and tower marketing manager Raquel Cubillo.

They were also able to look down on the beach and see a giant Mr Monopoly superbly made from Weymouth sand by Sandworld's Mark Anderson and David Hicks. Monopoly maker Winning Moves said they believed it was the first such sculpture in the world.

by Harry Walton
hds Walton@yahoo.co.uk

The launch coincided with the game hitting shop shelves – actual and virtual – Winning Moves adding that it has already had inquiries from ex-pats living and working overseas from as far afield as Australia, New Zealand, US and China.

Mr Taylor said: "Christmas is sorted for everyone! This area has so many wonderful sites and attractions such as Weymouth Beach and Portland Bill that these crown jewels were ideal for sites on a Monopoly board."

Mr Bruce said: "We are delighted the makers of Monopoly have chosen our beautiful borough as the location for its iconic board game. This is yet another example of how the international profile of this beautiful part of Dorset is becoming legendary around the world."

Mr Monopoly sprung to life under the skilful hands of Mark Anderson and David Hicks and Mark said: "We are delighted to have been asked to create this iconic centre-piece of one of the world's most popular and fun family board games and thrilled that Sandworld is featuring on the board on its very own property site!"

Carnival shares out £20,000

DELIGHTED charities and community groups have been presented with £20,000 as the proceeds from the 2012 Weymouth Carnival.

The town's biggest day of the year was organised by Weymouth Rotary clubs headed by Melcombe Regis. Melcombe chairman Ian Pye was among those who helped present 70 cheques in a ceremony at Bar Banus in Weymouth.

Event spokesman John Kelly said: "It was a real pleasure to hand out so much money to so many deserving causes from Talking Newspapers to scouts, guides, the Samaritans and other local charities.

"Carnival 2013 is already in the process of being planned and organisers are being headed by Ryan Hope."

Mr Hope told the View: "I am excited for next year and I hope we can carry on all the good work that Rotary has done."

Model rail show

WEYMOUTH will celebrate the 25th anniversary of its hugely popular annual model rail show on Saturday, November 3rd Sunday November 4th.

The show is now the biggest in the South West with 30 exhibition layouts and 17 trade stands.

The two day show will be held at Wey Valley School on Dorchester Road and an additional hall has been added this year in order to display a huge live steam layout for the first time.

Miniature locomotives powered by steam will chuff around a lay out, complete with points and a steaming bay, which has been two years in the making by the Weymouth and District Model Engineering Society.

Although the hobby is thriving, shows are important to modellers because they attract trade stands.

Weymouth Model Railway Association chairman Keith Pratt said: "Sadly, model rail shops are closing and it is becoming increasingly difficult for enthusiasts to buy what they need and to examine new locomotives and accessories.

"At our show, trade stands have a huge selection of new models as well as quality second-hand merchandise for modellers on a budget and newcomers to the hobby.

"We have never had so much interest as we have this year with more layouts and demonstrations and we confidently expect over 1,000 visitors."

Early Father Christmas

A CHRISTMAS bazaar will be held at St Paul's Church in Abbotsbury Road, Weymouth, on Saturday, November 17th at 11am.

There will be tombola, toys, games, books, cakes and refreshments, Father Christmas will put in an appearance and there will also be raffles and a grand draw.

Also in attendance will be Beechcroft St Paul's school choir and the June Hornby Dancers.

□ Planting the cherry tree to mark the past and the future

A CHERRY tree was planted as part of celebrations to mark 40 years of education and a new beginning as an Academy for Wyvern special school in Weymouth.

Parents, pupils, staff and professionals – both past and present – all took part before enjoying refreshments and a tour of the building.

Headteacher Sue Hoxey said: "Just over 40 years ago, the most complex children were recognised as having a right to an education and Wyvern school came into being.

"Over the last four decades many children have contributed to making Wyvern school a happy and special place to learn and staff have worked hard to increase opportunities for children with special educational needs and improve the quality of education that we provide.

"As we celebrate the anniversary of the founding of the school, we are embarking on the next stage of our journey having recently become an Academy.

"We look forward to a future where we focus on developing educational opportunities for the children at Wyvern Academy and the wider community, as well as building ever stronger partnerships with our colleagues in health and care to provide the best outcomes for children and their families.

"I personally think it is a really important milestone arrived at because of a lot of hard work over a long period of time."

The cherry tree was planted right outside the Academy in a special area containing other commemorative trees.

Wrong attitudes

A YOUNG lady I knew lost her fiancée through military service. This was, of course, heart-breaking. But her response was to seek revenge by joining the forces herself.

Some may say revenge is sweet but it can leave a very bitter taste. Certainly, it is the opposite to the teaching of Jesus Christ in The sermon on the mount. (Matthew chapters 5, 6, & 7)

Whether wars are won or lost is a mute point. There are always losses on both sides. The logical outcome of perpetuating retaliation rather than forgiveness is self destructive. In the end, no one wins.

Yet we still see situations where nations are at such loggerheads with each other that any peace agreements scarcely last overnight.

This can also be true of individuals. Some extremists claim to fight in the name of religion, despite all attempts to argue that they really want a peaceful solution. Whilst we may think that war and fighting is largely between nations, the causes often boil down to some hot-headed attitudes.

As we consider this, we might ask ourselves how we relate to those around us.

Are we naturally pleasant or do we rub people up the wrong way?

Top Tips for your Lawn this Autumn

The next few months are very important if you want to create a beautiful lawn for next year. For your best-ever lawn, follow these five simple tips...

Mow it Properly

The best thing you can do for your lawn is to make sure you're cutting it correctly. Many problems are caused by not mowing it often enough, then cutting it far too short when you do. In autumn you'll need to mow less frequently than in summer as grass grows less quickly, but don't let it get too long. If the grass is a little long as spring approaches, mow in a couple of stages - try not to take more than a third off its length in any one cut. Ideally your lawn should be kept between 3cms and 4cms high.

Collect lawn cuttings - dead grass will starve your lawn of essential water and light, and encourage excessive thatch and a build-up of moss.

Make sure your lawn mower is up to the job too. Consider getting it serviced to ensure blades are sharp, the engine is running well and the power cable is free of any damage.

Clear up Leaves

Sweep up leaves regularly. If left on the lawn, they reduce the amount of light getting to the grass and if left for too long, will smother the grass over the winter. This leads to bare patches that are vulnerable to disease in spring. Removing leaves also helps prevent moss as leaves allow water to settle on the lawn.

Get on Top of the Moss

Moss is most prolific between autumn and spring, and some lawn conditions make it more likely to thrive. Lawns that are compacted due to regular usage and footfall (particularly common in soil with a high clay content) can't dissipate water from the surface - and moss loves these damp conditions. Gardens with a lot of thatch are also high risk. Made up of stems, roots and leaves, thatch forms a mat on the lawn's surface, preventing moisture, oxygen and nutrients reaching the roots. Moss also loves shady conditions. If your lawn is particularly shady, consider re-seeding with a shade-tolerant grass seed.

Consider Mechanical Treatments

For many lawns, mechanical treatments are the only way to prevent the build-up of moss. Hollow-Tine Aeration alleviates compaction and involves punching out thousands of cores from the lawn to allow air, water and nutrients to reach the roots. Next season, your grass will look thicker and healthier. Scarification uses a machine with blades and knives to reduce thatch. It's a much more rigorous and effective process than raking. Reduction of thatch will considerably improve moss levels.

Watch Out for Common Problems

Keep an eye out for unusual patches or discolouration of the lawn, which can indicate a fungal infection. If dealt with early, this is easily remedied but if ignored, can have devastating effects.

■ OPENING the Co-op's
new-look store at Littlemoor

Green mission pupils open new look store

YOUNG eco-warriors from Wey Valley School and Sports College have helped open Weymouth's new-look Co-operative store at Littlemoor.

Year 8 students joined store manager Jan Dyer to cut a ribbon at the opening ceremony as part of their commitment to the Green Schools Revolution programme.

School business manager Robert Cole, who also co-ordinates the school's Eco Committee said: "We are a co-operative academy school, so it was nice of the Co-op to invite us along to help open their store."

The Co-operative has invested £215,000 to transform the store as part of its ongoing commitment to local communities.

They also gave the school £200 towards their environmental projects, a hamper packed with fresh produce to inspire their work on healthy eating, which is a key theme of the programme, and goody bags for the students.

The new-look store has been designed with families in mind including self-scan check-outs and a home delivery service, customers spending £25 or more being able to get their shopping delivered home free.

Jan said: "The store looks a bit different! We are offering a much wider range of electrical and other products, we have cut prices on nearly 4,000 items and I think our new-look store will be a great boost for Littlemoor and the wider community."

Pot from a bric-a-brac box goes for £1,600

A BERNARD Leach pot fulfilled its billing as the star item in a special Weymouth charity auction when it was sold for £1,600.

The auction was being held to raise funds for Julia's House and involved the auctioning of items donated to the children's charity.

The pot was an exciting discovery made by Julia's House relief manager Paul Cartlidge who told the View he found it in a box of bric-a-brac at their storage depot in Poole.

He added: "I also run an antiques business so I recognised the pot as Cornish pottery as soon as I saw it."

"Then I turned it upside down, saw the Bernard Leach mark and got very excited!"

"He is recognised as the father of modern studio pottery and we realised that it could fetch a lot of money in the auction."

He was right and an anonymous telephone bidder snapped up the find for £1,600 to a burst of applause from the auction audience.

Other items such as Carlton vases, a Majolica pipe stand and paper-weights all did well to the delight of Julia's House development director Mike Bartlett.

He said: "To get £1,600 for the Bernard Leach pot was fantastic. The auction was a wonderful boost for our funds and the best thing was that all the items were donated to us."

■ BAKING Birds' Lizzie Crow (left), Old Mill's Daisy Johnston and Baking Birds' Bekki Bemrose at the awards

Baking Birds' bread is best

TWO Weymouth businesswomen are celebrating after winning the Best of Savoury Bakery title at this year's Taste of the West Awards.

Lizzie Crow and Bekki Bemrose from The Baking Birds won the title, sponsored by Old Mill for their walnut, apricot and rosemary soda bread.

Their success was announced at the awards which were held at the Eden Project in Cornwall.

Judges commented that The Baking Birds' soda bread had a "fantastic rustic artisan appearance, fabulous texture with a wonderful aroma.

Packed full of ingredients; can be eaten for breakfast, lunch or tea... even with clotted cream!"

Baking Birds based at Upwey, which was only established three years ago, are attracting attention with their delightful range of cakes and breads, winning both gold and bronze Taste of the West Awards this year as well as being the Best of Savoury Bakery category winner.

Bekki Bemrose said: "We were really shocked and delighted to win and we want to thank the judges as well as everyone at Taste of the West and Old Mill. It means such a lot to a small business like ours and we are already using the award to help us promote both the soda bread and the business as a whole."

The Best of Savoury Bakery award was sponsored by accountancy firm Old Mill, which has one of the biggest food specialist divisions in the South West, including an office in Dorchester.

Daisy Johnston from the Old Mill food team said: "Our congratulations to The Baking Birds who did extremely well with their delicious soda bread which we were lucky enough to sample at the awards ceremony."

Weymouth celebrates UN Day

WEYMOUTH civic figures and residents celebrated UN Day in gardens off Radipole Park Drive where a tree was planted in 2001.

The UN flag was flown by Weymouth and Portland Mayor Margaret Leicester who led a short ceremony to mark the event which was held next to the memorial tree. The Mayor then gave a short speech followed by one from Weymouth and Portland Lions Club president Richard Burgess.

Mrs Leicester said: "We are very proud to gather at this tree memorial and recognise the fine work of the UN throughout the world, whether it is with extreme poverty or working towards peace."

The anniversary of the entry into force of the United Nations Charter on October 24th, 1945, has been celebrated as United Nations Day since 1948.

Step away from the coffee pot!

YOU never realise just how much danger you could be in from an ordinary everyday action - until you get thirsty and order a coffee!

Perhaps you're with a friend and you're chatting while the cafetiere steeps, unaware that you could be risking life and limb.

But take a closer look at your coffee and incredibly you may see a set of instructions on how to prepare and drink it!

Ye Gods! Aren't our lives controlled enough as it is? But, yes, there are now guidelines on what you need to do to enjoy a cup of coffee in safety, some of which seem to actually be written on cafetieres.

For instance, drinkers should watch out because coffee can be hot! And never take your eyes off the plunger, an apparently wilful mechanism which seizes every opportunity to attack the drinker.

There are more mind-numbing observations on safety but here's one they've forgotten - serious hand burns caused by the coffee drinker getting distracted by reading a load of unnecessary warnings while trying to pour their cup of coffee.

So remember to be on your guard against the dangers of coffee not least because you might break a rib laughing so much at the ludicrous descent into farce that our ordinary lives increasingly seem to be taking.

Now, I must break off here to write a cheque. Can't afford to let my personal injury insurance lapse for enjoying my cocoa tonight.

Second place will do for me - at least I'll get home safely

FORMULA One driver Lewis Hamilton's switch from McLaren to Mercedes is under threat after scouts for the German giant were spotted checking out drivers at Weymouth traffic lights.

The town's new traffic system has dramatically changed driving habits and produced a ruthless breed of motorist who is fine tuning their starting skills to Grand Prix standards in a bid to ensure they are first away from the lights to beat queues.

This in itself has been laughable in recent months since, even if they are quicker than every other waiting driver, their speed only ensures they are first to get to the next traffic light queue!

To watch them go at it is an object lesson in an accident waiting to happen.

Light approaches often have two lanes, both lanes merging into one beyond the junction.

Those who devised the system claim it speeds up traffic clearance and operates smoothly with both flows of traffic dovetailing into each other.

That's true in a perfect world, but there are some very imperfect drivers out there whose brutal determination to get the jump on everybody else is starting to create a real traffic threat.

Only the other day a speed merchant in the outside lane learned that his days are numbered after the driver in the inside lane got away at the same speed he did when the lights turned to green.

They both shot across the junction side by side and arrived at the bottleneck on the other side with neither prepared to give way.

The predictable result was a flare of brake lights, a blare of horns and a display of mutual appreciation in the time honoured fashion by the raising of middle fingers.

All this is clearly rich pickings for Mercedes who must be contemplating dumping Hamilton in favour of some Weymouth warrior seeking speed at any cost. For the rest of us I'm afraid a more sedate second place beckons but at least we'll get home safely.

Beauty in the eye of the beholder

THIS column has debated the question of what is art before, but the recent death of Weymouth artist Trevor Lawrence and the vandalising of a painting at the Tate Modern are keeping the pot simmering.

Lawrence was in his prime and could command several thousand pounds for his top works displaying colourful impressions of life in tenement-style buildings, a number of his paintings being snapped up by Hollywood legends such as Jack Palance.

By contrast, the last work by the late contemporary artist Mark Rothko - whose Black and Maroon painting was the one vandalised at the Tate - fetched a mind-boggling £53.8 million.

I believe that art is personal and if someone wants to pay a king's ransom for a painting of a blurred window then that is up to them, but it's not for me even if I had £53.8 million, which I don't.

On the other hand, Lawrence's silhouette-like works will also not be everyone's cup of tea but at least they challenge the eye.

Neither is likely to please purists of the Constable school of art, so we're back once again to a personal interpretation of the value of individual works.

Believe it or not, what few paintings I have embrace all three styles. I suppose beauty is in the eye of the beholder, whatever strikes a chord.

■ GINA, Sarah and Sarah face their fear of spiders

Overcoming a fear of spiders

by Harry Walton
hdswalton@yahoo.co.uk

THREE staff had to overcome a web of terror before they could hold a tarantula spider and welcome visitors to the current 'Face Your Fears' event at Weymouth Sea Life Adventure Park.

Gina Sheppard, Sarah Johnson and Sarah Lawrence all suffered from a morbid fear spiders.

But hypnotherapy helped them conquer their arachnid nightmare so they could join colleagues in helping visitors to conquer their nerves and get up close to a variety of creepy-crawlies, snakes, geckos and toads.

Marine life enthusiast Sarah Johnson, 25, from Weymouth was so fearful she froze in terror at the sight of even the tiniest spider, but local hypnotherapist Jacqui Hinson visited and helped her overcome her phobia.

Sarah, who plans to study marine ecology and conservation at Kingston Maurward said: "I don't remember how it started but I've been terrified of spiders my whole life."

"If I find a spider in the house I just scream for my mum and stand rooted to the spot watching it, so that I can make sure it doesn't hide anywhere before mum arrives to get rid of it."

"I am so glad I was given this opportunity to help me with my phobia. I am not sure if I would say I am cured, but I was ecstatic I was able to hold a tarantula."

Jacqui Hinson, who shares the successful Lotus Moon hypnotherapy practice in St Mary's Street, Weymouth, was confident she could help Sarah conquer her phobia.

She said: "I work mainly with smokers who want to quit and people with anxiety problems and I also provide a massage and aromatherapy service for care homes, but on more than one occasion I have helped care staff overcome a fear of spiders so they could remove them from residents' rooms."

After all three women had a 45-minute hypnotherapy session with Jacqui they successfully faced their fears by each holding a tarantula.

Jacqui said: "I was confident they would be able to hold a tarantula, but I was surprised at how quickly and eager Sarah Johnson was to hold one."

The tarantulas are owned by exotic pet handler, Ian Burdell from Reptiles Plus in Bournemouth who will be on hand this week to handle the more fragile creatures such as the snakes and spiders during the Face Your Fears event and to answer any questions guests might have about these animals.

Pension rates dropping & Life cover premiums increasing due to an EU Directive!

FROM 21 December 2012 the EU Gender Directive comes in to effect. From this date insurers will no longer be able to use gender as a factor when calculating annuity rates for pensions therefore pension rates decrease for men and premiums for life insurance will increase for women.

If you are due to retire soon or were considering taking out insurance, it may be worth bringing forward your planning to benefit from higher rates and lower premiums. Currently annuities for men are cheaper than annuities for women because, according to statistics, women live longer. This is due to change by men's rates reducing and women's rates increasing. The average payout for a man will decrease by around 10% after 21 December.

Insurers have previously been able to argue that men and women present different risks and so their rates and premiums should be calculated differently, however the European Court of Justice has found this to be unlawful and so is bringing insurance in line with European laws that do not allow companies to discriminate by gender when offering services or goods. The result of this is that women's insurance premiums could go up by 15%.

Most private pensions allow you to draw the benefits from age 55 onwards so this means that you are perfectly entitled to claim your pension before reaching age 65 if it is in your interest to do so.

If you want to find out more and see what deal we can find for you, call today on 01305 770650 to book a no obligation appointment or visit our Weymouth office, but hurry as time is running out.

Savers continue to suffer under low interest rates

WITH continuing low interest rates, many people who rely on their savings and investments to top up their income have continued to be disappointed with returns. Deposit based savings such as bank and building society accounts and cash ISA's offer a guarantee that your capital amount does not decrease but at what risk? What will the buying power of that money be and is your money devaluing every day that it remains there?

The most important consideration when looking and savings or investments of any kind is diversification, not having all your eggs in one basket and not only avoid holding all your monies in one account but also ensuring that you have a range of assets within your portfolio to ensure exposure to different areas as well as an element of stability though assets with underlying guarantees which can be achieved in a number of ways. The banks are under increasing pressure to make profits, so now more than ever is the time to ensure that you get advice based on what's best for you.

Alison Theobald of Pennywise Independent Financial Advisers can explore all options from across the whole market and has huge numbers of products to choose from depending on attitude to risk right through from basic investment solutions to more advanced bespoke investment management packages.

Fed up with poor returns on your savings and investments or just require a review of your mortgage and protection, call today for your free consultation on 01305 268942.

Acclaimed pianist to perform at Dorset County Museum

PROCLAIMED by Jools Holland as one of the best pianists of all time, Ben Waters' performances are simply breath-taking – he's accompanied numerous legends of rock 'n' roll from the likes of Chuck Berry, Jerry Lee Lewis, Shakin' Stevens and the Kinks' Ray Davies!

Last year, Ben was instrumental in re-forming The Rolling Stones to cut his star-studded tribute album to Ian Stewart (Boogie4Stu) which featured all the members of The Rolling Stones, Jools Holland and PJ Harvey. The proceeds from the album have already amassed a whopping £20,000 which has been donated to The British Heart Foundation, in memory of the late Ian Stewart who died of a sudden heart attack at a young age.

Ben has toured with the incredible ABC&D of Boogie Woogie which also features Axel Zwingenberger, Dave Green and Charlie Watts.

Ben Waters and Jools Holland

This November and December, Ben will be touring the UK on 227 dates, performing music from "Boogie4Stu" as well as an eclectic mix of seminal rock 'n' roll, boogie woogie, blues and rip-roaring originals in this rare solo tour.

Ben has also performed for HRH Prince Charles and at the actor and fellow musician, Hugh Laurie's 50th Birthday Party, plus countless corporate events across the globe.

Ben's forthcoming tour will provide audiences with a foot-stomping performance that will leave them wanting more.

The forthcoming concert at Dorset County Museum takes place at 8pm on Saturday, November 17th. Tickets cost £12 and are available now from the Museum Shop at Dorset County Museum on 01305 756827 or email shop@dorsetcountymuseum.org. Doors open at 7.30pm.

Local teenage jazz sensation to sing at Coach & Horses

TEENAGE jazz sensation Bronte Kirkby will be performing at the Coach & Horses in Winterbourne Abbas on Tuesday, November 6th.

Seventeen year old Bronte, a student at Thomas Hardy School, will be performing at the Inn as part of a special weekly pizza and music evening which will run until December.

Bronte, currently studying for A levels and hoping for a Vocal Performance Degree, grew up listening to Motown groups such as The Four Tops and The Supremes, as well as Fleetwood Mac and Eva Cassidy, before being drawn to jazz and blues stars such as Etta James, Sarah Vaughan and Billie Holiday.

You can often find Bronte busking in Dorchester and Weymouth, as well as supporting other acts, and she also performs with four big bands in the Dorset area.

The first pizza and easy listening music night at The Coach & Horses takes place on Tuesday, November 6th - for more details see the advert below.

Halloween Screening at Bridport Arts Centre

SET in 1976, Toby Jones plays Gilderoy, a documentary sound engineer who finds himself employed by the notorious Berberian Sound Studio – one of the cheapest, sleaziest post-production horror studios in Italy.

Obligated to work with the hot-headed producer Francesco, whose tempestuous relationships with certain members of his female cast threaten to boil over at any time, Gilderoy begins to record the sound for The Equestrian Vortex, a hammy tale of witchcraft and unholy murder typical of the 'giallo' genre of horror that's all the rage in Italy.

Only when he's testing microphones or poring over tape spooling around his machines does he feel at ease. Surrounded by Mediterranean machismo, and for the first time in his life beautiful women. Gilderoy - very much an Englishman abroad, devotes all his attention to his work.

He spends increasing amounts of time mixing screams and the bloodcurdling sounds of hacked vegetables, uneasy in his new environment and failing to notice how life is slowly beginning to imitate art.

Directed by Peter Strickland this film is an homage to the classic Italian Giallos of the period. The Venner Bar in The Bull Hotel will be offering special themed Curzon Cocktails for a special price of £5 on Thursday evening to anyone in receipt of a film ticket.

Berberian Sound Studio will be screened on Thursday, November 1st at 1.30pm and 7.30pm. Certificate 15. Tickets £6, Members and Concessions £5 from Bridport Arts Centre's box office 01308 424204 or online at www.bridport-arts.com.

The Millside Restaurant, Lyme Regis

THE Millside is located in one of the oldest parts of Lyme Regis, by the river Lym and the Town Mill. Recently rejuvenated the Town Mill has become one of the most vibrant areas of the town with art galleries, artisan foods, drinks and of course The Millside Restaurant.

We love all things local and home-made, because of this we make lots of our own bread, pasta and cakes (with local organic flour of course).

Just like the local suppliers we use, we enjoy the positive aspects of organic products that haven't travelled too far.

We want you to know exactly what's in your food and where it came from.

During December we are open everyday except Mondays and Sunday evenings. Over the Christmas holidays we will be open everyday except Boxing Day and have special menus available for Christmas Day Lunch and Dinner on New Years Eve, visit our website to view these menus: www.themillside.co.uk.

Old Inn, Kilmington

2012 has been a year of celebrations at The Old Inn, Kilmington. The summer was kicked off with Duncan and Leigh celebrating 5 years at this now established and acclaimed pub and restaurant. The summer of Jubilee and Olympic celebrations continued the theme and now they are gearing up for a December of festive cheer.

The pub caters to parties up to 35 and with its cosy log fire and flag stone floors a festive atmosphere is guaranteed. An extensive wine list and a range of great local ales ensures that parties go with a swing.

This year sees the return of a popular second option for more informal Christmas parties: An informal skittle party with finger buffet for 8 - 20 people. Enjoy a fun game of traditional pub skittles, followed by an informal finger buffet served around the log fire.

Details of both the full menu parties and the buffet party can be found on the web site www.oldinnkilmington.co.uk or call 01297 32096 for more details.

AsOne Theatre's Cabinet Maker's Daughter tour comes to dorset

ASONE Theatre will bring the tour of their show 'The Cabinet Maker's Daughter' to Dorset in November.

Set in 1846, the little town of Lyme Regis is battered by howling winter-gales. Dying and increasingly dependent on Laudanum, Mary Anning embarks on a strange dream journey through a life where she challenged the world of men and shook their beliefs to the core. She is haunted by hallucinations of old friends, enemies and even the dinosaurs she spent her life hacking out of the living rock. Into this world of dreams walks a man she never thought she would see again and attempts to find a resolution to their enigmatic relationship; a play about life and death; frustration and achievement; dreams and memories of long, long ago.

AsOne Theatre's 2012 tour is in association with the Jurassic Coast Earth Festival (a Cultural Olympiad partner).

AsOne's Artistic Director, Jane McKell said: "We have had amazing audience reaction. The words 'compelling', 'powerful', 'thought provoking'; and 'riveting' - have been the norm! It all started when, after reading Tracy Chevalier's great read 'Remarkable Creatures', I contacted her. To cut a long story short she offered us the rights for free to adapt her book for stage to tour - we were applying for funding. However an Australian film company bought the rights from her and curtailed our project. So undaunted we continued with our own play about Mary Anning touring in association with the Jurassic Coast Trust's 'Earth Festival' - itself a part of the Cultural Olympiad. It has been such a success we extended our tour into the autumn. Audiences love our play about this amazing, lowly born Lyme Regis woman - relatively unrecognised, and prevented as a woman from entering the Royal Geological Society - who was recently voted third amongst the top 10 international female scientists to affect the world as we know it. A remarkable Jurassic Coast story of early dinosaur discovery, achievement, sacrifice & love".

The tour visits The Corn Exchange, Dorchester (tel: 01305 267992) on Friday, November 2nd at 7.30 pm; Shaftesbury Arts Centre (tel: 01747 854 321) on Saturday, November 3rd at 7.30pm; and Bridport Arts Centre (tel: 01308 424204) on Friday, November 16th at 7.30pm.

Grandpa Banana at the Corn Exchange

DIRECT from California Grandpa Banana appears at Dorchester Corn Exchange, the Town Hall building on Saturday, November 10th. Banana was the founder member of the legendary San Francisco Bay area folk rock band The Youngbloods. The band's classic recording Get Together sold over one million copies cracking the U.S. top 5 achieving gold record status in 1969. Get Together was later featured on the soundtrack in the film Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas. The Youngbloods disbanded in 1973, and Banana started a solo career performing his own brand of Californian roots Americana. This gig is part of an extensive European solo tour to showcase Banana's album Even Grandpas Get The Blues. The album features guest appearances from world class musicians the likes of Ry Cooder, Barry "the Fish" Melton, and David Grisman.

Described as "One of the most notable of the unsung musicians" by The Marin Independent Journal, Grandpa Banana (real name Lowell Levinger) has been a major player in the legendary west coast psychedelic and bluegrass scene for over forty years. As well as performing in his own right Banana was accompanist to Mimi Farina (the sister of Joan Baez) for over twenty years, and also played keyboards for ten years with psychedelic band Zero, who's members included Steve Kimock who toured and recorded with members of the Grateful Dead. Banana also played with Norton Buffalo of the Steve Miller band, and also with Dan Hicks and his Hot Licks.

Grandpa Banana currently plays on a regular basis with Barry "The Fish" Melton founder member of Woodstock Festival legends Country Joe & The Fish in The Barry Melton Band and with The Michael Barclay Blues Band. He plays his beloved bluegrass music with friends and neighbours including The Papermill Creek Rounders, David, Tracy and Sam Grisman, The David Thom Band, Peter Rowan and the legendary Artie Rose and associates.

Banana was initially a bluegrass musician who apart from guitar and piano also plays banjo, mandolin, mandola and bass. He began his career on the east coast, in Boston playing bluegrass banjo in the local coffee houses of the early 60's being mentored by the likes of Bill Keith and The Charles River Valley Boys.

WOW Youth Musical Theatre present Oliver!

WOW was formed in 1982, following a production of Oliver! by Weymouth Operatic Society. The show was produced for WOW's 10th Anniversary when 'Sold Out' signs were displayed at the Pavilion Theatre. It is fitting, therefore, that 'Oliver!' has been chosen for WOW's 30th Anniversary and will be performed at Weymouth Pavilion Theatre from Wednesday 14th - Saturday 17th November at 7.30pm with a matinee on Saturday at 2.30pm.

The story opens on the sinister interior of the workhouse where Mr Bumble is serving gruel to the boys. When Oliver Twist returns with his bowl and the words 'please sir, I want some more', Mr Bumble is outraged. Oliver is sold to Mr Sowerberry the undertaker but he is so unhappy that he runs away. I am sure you know the rest of the story - but do go and see WOW's interpretation. 'Food, Glorious Food', 'Where Is Love', 'Consider Yourself At Home', 'You've Got To Pick A Pocket Or Two' and 'As Long As He Needs Me' are among the many memorable songs in the show.

The two young boys playing Oliver will be Charlie

Vaughan and Ryan Hannigan with the role of Dodger shared between Oliver Tapley and Alex Rogan. Fagin's Billy Matthews and Bill Sykes Paris Misailidis.

Reine Anderson plays her first major role as Nancy with Charlotte Allen as Bet. Mr Bumble and Widow Corney, Adrian Bevan and Juliette Bone; Mr and Mrs Sowerberry, George Lyons and Cassandra Grindley. Completing the cast Noah Claypole, Rhys Hardwick; Charlotte, Clare Phelan and Mrs Bedwin, Fern Pritchard.

Director and choreographer is Martyn Knight, who has worked with the youngsters many times, and musical director and conductor to the live orchestra is Heather Reed.

Tickets are £13.50 with concessions for senior citizens and under 18's of £10.50, on Wednesday evening and Saturday matinee only. Available from the Weymouth Pavilion box office (01305 783225) or online at www.weymouthpavilion.purchase-tickets-online.co.uk

THE PERFECT PLACE TO START YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING AND A FUN DAY OUT FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

THE ever popular Annual Christmas Craft and Gourmet Foos Show at Kingston Maurward House took on a new dimension four years ago with the addition of the Gourmet Food Hall.

This proved to be a real crowd pleaser with customers able to taste and purchase the wonderful variety of locally produced gourmet foods. From olives to oils, cakes to coffees, ales to asparagus, sushi to shellfish, Spanish produce to sweets, preserves to pancakes, puddings to pies, tarts to tea and a host of food accessories including amazing knife sharpeners, graters, cheeseboards, vintage cake stands and domestic pots there really is something for everyone.

As usual there will be a wonderful selection of high quality crafts, ideal for that special individual Christmas present - from candles to cosmetics, pottery to pictures; bags to books; toys to trails; jumpers to jewellery and glassware to glitz - there really is something for everyone.

There is so much to see and do, come early and stay all day. Browse the wonderful stands in the morning, enjoy lunch from the large selection of foods available then how about a Dorset cream tea before more shopping...

The show takes over the whole ground floor of the beautiful Kingston Maurward House which is situated 2 miles east of Dorchester just off the A35.

Admission prices remain the same as last year. Adults £2.50; concessions £2.00 and children under 16 are free.

Lexus storms Las Vegas with custom specials

- Lexus's sixth year at the SEMA Show marked with six customised, concept and high performance models
- New Project LS 460 F Sport by Five Axis
- Supercharged GS 350 F Sport by VIP Auto Salon
- LF-CC coupe concept and IS FCCS-R race car
- LFA and LFA Nürburgring Edition

LEXUS has a high-impact presence at the 2012 SEMA Show in Las Vegas this week, its contribution to the world-famous customisation show led by a no-holds-barred interpretation of the new LS 460 F Sport by the Five Axis design studio. Also on show will be VIP Auto Salon's interpretation of a Supercharged GS 350 F Sport.

Joining these custom specials will be IS FCCS-R which conquered the Pikes Peak International Hill Climb earlier this year, and the LF-CC hybrid concept that broke cover at the Paris motor show in September. Rounding off the display will be the LFA supercar in both its standard form and its track-focused Nürburgring Edition form.

LS 460 F Sport by Five Axis

Concept design studio Five Axis has taken the new LS 460 F Sport (due in the UK at the end of the year) and added even more visual muscle and styling impact, with a full aero body kit, 22-inch custom wheels with Yokohama Advan Sport tyres, Air Runner TC-5 air suspension a dedicated matt silver paint finish and grey accents.

Supercharged GS 350 F Sport by VIP Auto Salon

The Lexus GS F Sport made its SEMA debut last year and returns in a hot new interpretation by VIP Auto Salon that raises performance with an Apexi CG SPL custom supercharger kit, high-performance Brembo brakes and Vossen CV7 20-inch wheels. The car's extra potential is broadcast in a WALD International Aero styling package.

Lexus IS F CCS-R

The IS FCCS-R appears at SEMA fresh from its debut at the Peaks Pike International Hill Climb in Colorado, where it secured a second-in-class result on its debut. Powered by a standard 416bhp 5.0-litre V8 engine, this competition special saloon features carbon fibre bodywork elements, 18-inch SSR wheels and racing brakes and exhaust system.

Lexus LF-CC Concept and LFA

The Lexus LF-CC Concept makes its USA debut at SEMA, having being unveiled at the Paris motor show in September. It represents both styling and hybrid powertrain technology that Lexus will be applying to new showroom models in the near future. Also on show in Las Vegas is the Lexus LFA supercar, presented in both its standard form, and with the Nürburgring Package which can be specified to tailor handling for track performance.

Seasiders sail through to third round

DORSET FOOTBALL ROUND-UP

WITH WILL MOWBRAY

Dorset Premier League

Bridport Res 3 Poole Borough 3

DUE to the League Cup second round only one league game was played and it gave Bridport the chance to move into the top five when they shared six goals and the points with their visitors from Poole.

The Bees strikes coming from Gary Bulman in the 16th minute, Paul Fellows in the 65th minute and Chris Herbst in the 80th minute while netting for the Hornets were Sam Coakes on the half hour mark, Luke Pidgley in the 78th minute and a penalty conversion from Marc Jackson four minutes into injury time. Despite this point Poole remain in the bottom two.

Dorset Premier League Cup

Swange Town 0 Weymouth Res 3

WEYMOUTH deserved their win and, but for a combination of excellent goalkeeping from Taylor and some wayward finishing the margin of victory could have been greater.

Swanage were decidedly below par and will look to improve quickly or their season could descend into a League survival battle.

Weymouth on the other hand looked a hard side to beat and are putting together a decent run of form which bodes well for the remainder of the season.

Goal scorers: Sanchez-Baker (2), S.Zima.

ROUND-UP

SENIOR LEAGUE

MERE Town increased their lead at the top of the Senior League to six points following their 6-0 success against their visitors Weymouth Sports with their strikes coming from a Jordan Collins hat-trick, Scott Martin (2) and Jamie Samways.

Portland United Reserves stay in second spot despite going down 3-1 at Sturminster United with the Cherries goals coming from Sam Stockley, Luke Turk and Matthew Jordan. This was Sturminster's fourth win that keeps them in the top five.

Third placed Piddletrenthide United made it five wins for the season with a 4-3 win at Stourpaine.

Witchampton United also had the same score when they defeated their visitors Sturminster Marshall 4-3 with their marksmen being Jonathan Hayter with two and one each for Lee Read and Jamie Edwards.

DIVISION ONE

Milborne Sports stay in second place after their 4-1 win against their visitors from Chickereil United with their strikes coming from Carl McClements with a hat-trick and one from Ricky Lane.

Two mid-table sides, Bridport A and Wincanton Town Reserves, shared four goals and the points with the Bees goals coming from Chris Symes and James Legg.

DIVISION TWO

Handley Sports are also now on 16 points after their 4-3 win at Stickland with the hosts strikes all coming from Darren Critchell. Stickland are still yet to win a game.

Paul Blake - Paralympic memories (the conclusion)

Brilliant Blake reflects on experience

DOUBLE Paralympian Games London 2012 medallist Paul Blake concludes his exclusive interview with View Sports Stuart Broom on his thoughts and aspirations in taking part in a Paralympic Games in his own country; certainly one of the greatest moments he will experience in his life. The athlete from Charlton Down won a silver medal in the T36 400m final before adding a bronze just 48 hours later in the T36 800m.

In the second part of the interview, Paul reflects on the parade through central London and what he thinks and hopes the huge media coverage of the Paralympics has done for disabled athletes.

'Hopefully we have raised the profile of disabled athletics'

DESPITE finishing third in the 800m race, where he hoped of at least a silver and which didn't go to plan, Blake was philosophical and generous in his praise of his competitors.

"I thought I had a better chance in the 800m rather than the 400m, so having won the silver two days earlier at the shorter distance, I was hoping to at least equal it.

"I usually run a fairly fast first lap which gives me the momentum for the second 400m, but the race plan went out the window when the main competitors, the Russian pair Evgenii

Shvetcov and former world record holder Artem Arefyev did not chase the Columbian Fabio Gutierrez Torres, who went off like a train.

"I was tucked in behind the Russians as we came to the bell by which time we had caught him as he faded, but the pace was really slow. In the back straight they moved out slightly and I moved up the inside and took the lead; the noise from the crowd was deafening when I struck the front.

Unfortunately I didn't have the finish in my legs to maintain it, and both of them came by me on the top bend, but I easily took the bronze.

"I wish I had, I thought Gold was a possibility before, but on the day the best man won I have to say, but I just hate to lose!

"The parade through the streets of London a few days later was another unbelievable experience. It was a long day. We had to gather at 10am and the procession started at 1.30pm which took around two hours, and then we had the closing speeches outside Buckingham Palace, and so it was around five before we finished.

"I was lucky to be on the first open top bus along with the likes of Jessica Ennis and Andy Turner, and other great names.

"The crowds were phenomenal, from Billingsgate where we started and all along the route; at Trafalgar Square it was manic! The people were fantastic.

"They weren't just calling out the big star names and congratulating them, we were all being cheered by name and asked questions. I just wasn't expecting the whole thing.

At the Victoria Memorial in front of Buckingham Palace we all deplaned and gathered on the steps. I was lucky enough to be fairly central and it's not often you get to stand so close to the Prime Minister and the Mayor of London.

"At a small reception for afterwards I got to speak with Boris Johnson who when I asked him about his zip-wire experience in the lead up to the games he laughed it off as a bit of a nuisance.

"The overall experience and the whole ethos of the event was much more than I expected; a really good experience that exceeded my expectations.

"Although we won't have the nation's support in Rio in 2016 as we have had here, the experience certainly has stood me in good stead and giving me an idea of what to expect, and I think from an athlete's perspective has helped me considerably.

■ WELL DONE: Paul Blake celebrates with his siblings after winning bronze Olympic medal

"This time everything was new to me, but being in London I had the advantage of the culture, language etc which helped greatly.

"I hope that the Paralympics has not just benefitted disabled athletes, but has been good for athletics in general and shown the world what we can achieve.

"I heard so many people say that they didn't see a disabled person, only an athlete, and I hope it has raised our profile and given us more recognition."

SCRUM DOWN - rugby round-up

Sin-bin decision costs Weymouth

FROM 12 DORCHESTER 31
ALTHOUGH the home side chose to face the stiff breeze during the first period, it was they who made the better start.

Their pack really "got in Dorchester's faces", harassing them into error and taking the lead via a pushover try, touched down out wide. The home place kicker then added the extras with an exceptional kick into the elements to give his side a 7-0 lead.

Dorchester, still lacking in cohesion, did get a score back via a Baker penalty goal, only for a second home try, unconverted this time, to increase the lead. In fact it was only the defensive ability of Read, the Dorchester full back that prevented Frome taking an unassailable lead before the halfway stage.

As it was, the visitors edged their way back into the contest, again through a Baker place kick on the stroke of half time. It was of scant comfort to them at this stage, for Frome had shown themselves to be the better side thus far, and they would now have the wind at their backs.

Strong words must have been digested with the half-time lemons for it was a different Dorchester side that emerged in the second period.

The home set scrum came under increasing pressure, imposed primarily by Warren. Dorchester then began to win the breakdown, and consequently the territorial battle, and tries followed.

Carl Mitchell got the first, touching down in the right hand corner, before Luke Weller got the next down the left.

Although both were unconverted, they served to take Dorchester into a four point lead at 16-12.

Baker then kicked his third penalty of the afternoon to keep the scoreboard ticking and, when his pack drove their opponents back over their own line with Bonner coming up with the ball.

Dorchester now went chasing the bonus point, and thought they had it when Luke Weller got over. He was pulled back for a foot in touch however but, at the last, Read and Bament combined to put the later clear to touch down try number four.

Baker added the extras to this one to take his side to a bonus point win to which their second half performance had surely entitled them.

TROWBRIDGE 24 WEYMOUTH 22

THIS was an encounter that, although fortunes fluctuated throughout, was in the final analysis as close as the final score suggests.

The first ten minutes belonged to the home side and the Weymouth line came under considerable pressure. It coped however but just as it had cleared, an error came that enabled a Trowbridge prop to gallop down the touchline and crash over.

The try remained unconverted and Weymouth, now having settled, began to play some good rugby. They got a score back via the boot of out half Sheppard but, on the twenty five minute mark, they fell further behind.

Rolling front row substitutions proved to be their undoing. A replacement prop was slow to settle. Trowbridge won one against the head and increased their lead with a converted try. They continued in the ascendancy until the interval, scored another try, unconverted this time, and led 17-3 at the halfway stage.

While Trowbridge were good value for their interval lead, it was the visitors who had the better of the second period.

They narrowed the gap with a try by Joel Wilson who touched down after outstripping the home defence. Sheppard converted this one, and also the next, scored by Will Quick who cut a good angle to get over after a fluent move by his fellow backs had created the opening for him.

The scores were now tied at 17-17 and it was most certainly any one's game to win with 15 minutes left on the clock.

Disaster now struck for Weymouth for, during a bout of home pressure, skipper Quick was sent to the bin - a rather harsh decision some thought.

In any event Weymouth now had to play the final ten minutes with just 14 bodies on the park and it was Trowbridge who prospered by scoring a try that they converted.

The visitors were far from done however. They came back, imposed some pressure and Wilson got over in the corner for his second try of the game.

The conversion kick that would have tied the scores did not go over, but Weymouth were by no means done.

They went back at the last and created half an overlap but could not execute, and Trowbridge held on until the final whistle.

Weymouth will probably see this as the one that got away and, while accepting their losing bonus point, will feel that they could well have won.

PREVIEW

THERE'S another full weekend of league fixtures locally and both the local Southern league (South) clubs have home fixtures.

DORCHESTER should really have too much for OAKMEDIANS, for their opponents have had a pretty scruffy start to their campaign, winning just once.

Dorchester do need to settle their side however. If they can do so they can be a force in the division.

WEYMOUTH will certainly be targeting to win their home fixture against WOOTTON BASSETT. The visitors, while being a well-established side in the division, have not had a particularly good start to the season.

The form-book indicates a home win by a couple of scores. Games do not take place on the form-book however and I think this one will be close.

PUDDLETOWN undertake what might indeed be a decisive game in their entire league programme, for they entertain top side NEW MILTON 2nd who have carried all before them thus far, and scored a host of tries into the bargain.

Puddletown do seem to be growing into their campaign however and certainly have a chance in this one. If they are at their best they can make home advantage count. It will not be easy.

Dorchester seconds entertain their Weymouth counterparts for what, I guess will be a typical local derby with little separating the sides at the end of the day.

FIXTURES 3rd November

YOUTH CRICKET

Cerne Valley U14 123-3 beat Weymouth 98-3 by 25 runs
CERNE, batting first, quickly mounted up runs against Weymouth with a fine display of attacking batting; Tom Doyle leading the charge with an impressive 29 not out which included some powerful drives.

He was ably supported by Frampton (18 no) and Webb (9) as the Weymouth bowlers fought back with some fine line and length, backed up by some sharp fielding as the game ebbed and flowed in a gripping contest.

Weymouth's innings got off to a flying start as PEmmery (26 no) and J.Sappworth (30no) punished any wayward deliveries with a succession of fine strokes.

At 60-0 after five overs the game looked evenly poised, but Solo Roper (2-11) and Tao White slowed the run rate with solid accurate bowling as Cerne fought back. Despite a well judged 16 from P.Sapworth, Weymouth fell 25 runs short.

Dorchester U14 58-2 beat Portland 56-5 by 4 wks

PORTLAND put up a brave effort against Dorchester despite being two players short.

Captain Luke Strong led the way with a mature 14 against an impressive bowling attack and aided by Luke Lovett (8 no) showed grit and determination as Portland never gave up and fought to the end. Dorchester's bowlers led by J James (2-3) always had the upper hand.

Dorchester then gave a lesson in sportsmanship by lending Portland two fielders as they set about their target.

Portland had the best possible start with Strong taking an excellent caught and bowled with the very first ball; however their joy was short lived as J.Elwood (27no) punished the Portland attack with some cultured stroke play.

Strong cleaned bowled R.Parkin (17) in his second over to finish with 2-13 and pick up the PRT man of the match, but the end was close and Dorchester cruised to victory with five overs remaining.

The next round of matches will feature Bridport U16 v Portland (10am) and Powerstock U16 v Dorchester (11.30am) at the Osprey Leisure Centre, Portland.

Dorchester FC - Magpies news

Angels bring Magpies to ground

Dorchester Town 1 Tonbridge Angels 2

BLUE SQUARE SOUTH - ATT: 463

TWO poor pieces of defending saw Dorchester Town lose at the Avenue Stadium for the first time this season.

Despite dominating the game, the result saw the Magpies slipped from fourth to eighth spot in the Blue Square South.

Two first half goals from Chris Piper, both following long throws, the second in added time, rocked the county town, and forced manager Phil Simpkin to introduce Ashley Nichols and Ben Watson, who he had been hoping to leave on the subs bench ahead of next week's FA Cup tie with Plymouth Argyle.

Jon Garcia made his first start on the left-wing, and new AFC Bournemouth loan signing Jordan Chiedoie, son of former Spurs star John Chiedoie, made his debut up front alongside Jamie Reid who was in his last game before returning to his parent club Exeter City.

Skipper Mark Jermyn, playing in a midfield role, almost gave the Magpies the lead inside a minute when he picked up a rebound 40 yards from goal and thumped a shot that just cleared the right hand angle of the goal frame.

Chiedoie had a great chance when he was left with a free header from Jake Gosling's corner, but he could only direct the ball straight at Angel's keeper Lee Worgan.

Jermyn was revelling in his midfield role, and was close with another shot, this time a 25-yard drive that flashed past Worgan's left upright.

Dorchester were totally in command and when Garcia's cross found Aaran Pugh at the far post it was shuffled behind by Worgan and a defender for a corner. Central defender Charlie Clough was next to try his luck but his 25-yard effort also just went wide of the post after he picked up another loose ball.

It looked a matter of time before Dorchester would score, but it was Tonbridge with their first chance on goal who took the lead on the half hour.

Ross Treleaven, something of a Rory Delap long throw specialist, caught the Magpies defence napping with a quick throw.

Clough could only glance the ball sideways as it arrowed in, and the unmarked Piper on the edge of the area, volleyed beyond Jason Matthews.

Reid who has been a disappointment in his final games at The Avenue, squandered a great opportunity of leaving on a high two minutes later.

Gosling's pass found Chiedoie just wide of goal who flicked the ball on to Reid on the edge of the six yard box. But the striker took too long pondering the chance, and Henry Muggeridge stepped in to clear.

Angel's Frannie Collin fired a free-kick over the top after Jake Smeeton had pulled him back, before the visitors doubled their advantage in added time.

Once again the home defence was caught out by Treleaven's long throw, allowing Angel's skipper Gary Elphick to head the ball on to George Purcell. Although Matthews managed to get his fingertips to the striker's header, Piper forced the ball home.

INSIDE: Keith Jenkin's rugby round-up

'Wood chop Terras down to size

Weymouth 1 Shortwood Utd 2
FA Trophy - ATT: 366

WEYMOUTH were dumped out of the FA Trophy on Saturday when lower league Evo-Stik Division One South & West visitors Shortwood United came from behind with two second-half goals; the winner two minutes from time.

The strong wind made this a game of two halves, but the Terras failed to show any real killer instinct in the first period with the elements at their back and only led by a Mark Ford goal at the interval.

Shortwood made better use of the wind in the second half and deservedly took the spoils.

Manager Brendon King would have been hoping for a commanding display from his players following back-to-back league victories, but was left frustrated at a below par performance that undid the signs that they were getting back to some kind of consistency.

Weymouth had the better of the opening exchanges and forced a couple of corners.

But it wasn't until the 28th minutes that they had their first real chance when Craig Duff forced his way through but shot wide of the far post.

However they did take the lead on 38 minutes when James Coates failed to cut out Ben Joyce's pass to Ford who fired in an angled shot which Wood 'keeper Tom King blocked with his feet.

Ford, who is quickly developing into an excellent striker, collected the rebound, turned inside Bennett before driving the ball home under King as Coates tried to

by Stuart Broom
stuart@pemediia.co.uk

block his shot.

Shortwood came into the game in the second-half with the wind at their backs and Jack Parrott quickly showed their desire although firing wide of the post.

Terras 'keeper Simon Evans then had to save Tim Haddock's 20 yard shot.

urgency

Weymouth's attacks were few and far between as they appeared to sit back on their lead.

But Ford got in a shot on the hour that passed the far post before the visitors grabbed a deserved equaliser midway through the half.

The home defence failed to pick up Luke Gullick and he stole in at the far post to stoop and head Parrott's cross just inside Evans' left-hand post.

Weymouth responded briefly with efforts from Ford and Ed Palmer.

But it was the visitors who were showing the urgency and they almost took the lead six minutes from time.

Gullick cut inside and fired his shot across Evans, but unfortunately for the travelling fans it struck the foot of the far post.

However their endeavours were rewarded with just two minutes remaining of normal time with the winner.

When no Weymouth player attempted to close him down after receiving the ball from a throw in, Coates had all the time in the world to measure his right wing cross which found Haddock who powered home a 10-yard header into the top left-hand corner of the net.

The defeat must send alarm bells ringing in King's head as it appeared his charges had looked to be back on the up after the two wins, and he was understandably disappointed at their application.

The next four games will no doubt be crucial. On Saturday they host fourth placed Stourbridge, before travelling to St Albans City who currently sit sixth.

They then have two more home games, with 16th placed Cambridge City visiting on November 17th, followed the following week by in form Leamington, only second by virtue of the fact Hemel Hempstead Town have played four games more than them.

Opportunity for Terras fans at tonight's 'Chairman's Clinic'

WEYMOUTH fans are being offered the chance to meet the management and players at the second 'Chairman's Clinic' at the Bob Lucas Stadium tonight (Thursday).

The clinic, held between 4pm and 8pm, allows fans to speak or question chairman Nigel Biddlecombe (4pm-8pm), manager Brendon King (4-6pm), Chairman of the Supporters Association Ade McDonald (6-8pm) or a representative of Wessex Fantasy Football (6-8pm).

Supporters are also invited to watch the training session that is scheduled to take place between 6-30 and 7.30pm, after which the players will be available for supporters to take photographs, obtain autographs or simply to chat until 8pm.
